2. Resort to the Proportionality Principle

This Remuneration Policy is designed by applying the principle of proportionality.

The application of the principle of proportionality is motivated by the following elements:

- Size: as of December 31, 2021, MC Square is managing funds with a total net asset value of 7 BN of assets in EUR>
- Internal organization: The internal organization of MC Square is relatively straightforward in such a way that the main activities performed by MC Square, i.e. portfolio management and risk management, are clearly segregated with distinct reporting lines. The risk management function is fully dedicated to measuring, monitoring and managing the risk exposure borne by the managed funds including any operational risks.
- Nature, scope and complexity of the activities: MC Square manages UCITS and AIFs mostly investing in traditional asset classes with straightforward investment strategies and no exotic instruments. MC Square does not actively market the managed UCITS and AIFs.

In this context, as defined in the ESMA AIFM Guidelines, MC Square has decided not to apply the following requirements:

- Requirement to pay out at least 50% of the variable remuneration in instruments and, de facto, the related instrument retention obligations;
- Requirement to pay out at least 40% of the variable remuneration through a deferral scheme of minimum 3 years and, de facto, the related ex-post risk adjustment obligations;

3. General requirements

Remuneration and Risk

In accordance with the general principle on sound promotion and effective risk management, this remuneration policy does not encourage risk-taking that exceeds the level of tolerated risk of the Funds managed.

The Board of Directors of MC Square (the "Board") aims to reward performance based on profitable, compliant behaviours and not on excessive risk taking. The Board decides remuneration based on sound remuneration principles in line with the business strategy, objective, value and interests of the Funds managed or its investors including measures to avoid conflicts of interest.

MC Square has established a conflicts of interest policy which allows it to prevent conflicts or, where conflicts cannot be prevented, appropriately monitor any arising conflicts. The Board has appointed a Board member, to supervise the appropriate application of MC Square's remuneration policy.

The business strategy of MC Square is to grow revenue from the sound and prudent management of the Funds. Any growth in revenue from assets under management is subject to consistent compliance with investment objectives, strategies and inherent risks applicable.

The long-term interests of MC Square are the continued growth in revenue from assets under management with a view to profitably liquidate such assets at the divestment period taking into account the best interests of its investors.

The Fixed Remuneration

MC Square shall remunerate its employees primarily with a salary, i.e. a fixed amount of pay per month. This fixed remuneration which is determined on the basis of the role of the staff member, including level of responsibility, job complexity and general market practices, includes the annual base salary which is paid monthly in 12 instalments.

MC Square does not offer other fringe benefits and does not have any internal pension scheme policy.

However, it is to be noted that MC Square may, at its own discretion, offer additional fringe benefits to some employees such as parking places, company cars, scholarship and training/study related costs, representation allowances and accommodation costs.

The Variable Remuneration

Some employees may be granted with a variable part of remuneration based on the profit realised by MC Square pursuant to an introduction of the employee or based on the criteria listed in the following sections hereunder. The Board considers individual entitlement based on performance across a range of metrics having regard to all relevant types of current and future risk and long term performance of the Funds managed.

Variable Remuneration is granted on the basis of the results of the performance assessment process. It shall be based on relevant, pre-determined and measurable criteria linked to MC Square's corporate values, business strategy goals, long-term interests of its shareholders and clients, and risk management. MC Square does not encourage an excessive assumption of risks related to sustainability. There shall be an appropriate balance between Fixed and Variable Remuneration as determined in Section 5.

Specifically, Variable Remuneration for Identified Staff shall be based both on the individual performance of the employee and of MC Square. Both financial and non-financial criteria (such as achievement of strategic targets, internal and external audit results, adherence to the risk management policy, compliance with internal and external rules, cooperation with other business units and with control functions, etc.) shall be considered when assessing the employee's performance. These financial and non-financial criteria shall be specified and documented for each employee of the Identified Staff.

Additional payments are subject to the entire discretion of the Board and shall only be awarded if and on the basis that the individual has contributed to the long term well-being of the UCITS managed as measured across a range of factors including compliance with legal, regulatory and CSSF requirements as regards risk management principles (including Sustainability Risks), policies and procedures, training and competence outcomes as well as any other factors considered relevant by the Board from time to time.

Assessment of the results of MC Square shall be conducted using a multi-year perspective in order to ensure that the assessment process is based on longer term performance.

MC Square does not offer any guarantee on the Variable Remuneration of its staff members. Furthermore, employees cannot receive any professional or personal compensation for the partial or total loss of their variable remuneration, neither from any personal risk hedging strategies nor from any insurance scheme.

The adjustment of the variable remuneration is not based solely on financial metrics. Qualitative non-financial performance metrics form a significant part of the assessment process.

These metrics may include, for example:

- an employee's failure to adhere to effective risk management;
- an employee's failure to comply with applicable regulatory rules; and
- unethical behaviour or other behaviour that is contrary to Company's culture and values.

For confidentiality reasons and in accordance with the EU General Data Protection Regulation (“GDPR”), each employee shall only receive information relating to his/her own remuneration.

4. The Variable Remuneration Principles

4.1 Considerations for specific categories of employee

Board members (Executive Directors)

The Board's approach to variable remuneration is that in principle, no variable remuneration will be given to the Board members as any performance related remuneration shall be reinvested into MC Square. The Board members shall be remunerated on the basis of fixed amounts. Every year the general meeting of the shareholders shall determine a global amount being granted to the Board which shall decide the allocation between the members.

The Board shall under no circumstances approve variable remuneration which prejudices MC Square's current regulatory capital position or any identified risk that would require MC Square to strengthen its capital base.

Non-Executive Directors

No variable remuneration is granted to Non-Executive directors for the exercise of their mandate. The fixed remuneration granted to Non-Executive Directors is decided by the Board and the Ordinary General Meeting of MC Square.

Executive and Senior Management

Executive and Senior Management have both fixed and variable remuneration, based on their role in the organization and their performance. The fixed and variable remuneration granted to Executive and Senior Management is decided by the Board.

Internal Control Functions

These functions are independent from the operational departments, have a suitable level of authority and are compensated in line with the achievement of objectives associated with their role, independently of the performance of the operational departments. MC Square shall ensure that the employees who are engaged in Internal Control Functions:

- (i) are independent from the business units they oversee;
- (ii) have appropriate authority and resources to monitor and control the risks associated with MC Square's remuneration of staff; and

(iii) are remunerated in accordance with the achievement of their own objectives linked to their position, functions, which shall be independent from the performance and result of the business areas they control.

However, the balance of fixed and variable remuneration of staff members in Internal Control Functions is weighted in favor of fixed remuneration. The variable remuneration, if any, granted to Internal Control Functions is decided by the CEO of MC Square, reviewed by the Board and approved by the members of the Board who do not perform any executive functions (i.e. Non-Executive Directors).

Other Risk-Takers

The variable remuneration granted to the Identified Staff is subject to the criteria and restrictions set out in this Policy. The variable remuneration granted to other Risk-Takers is proposed by the CEO of MC Square and approved by the members of the Board who do not perform any executive functions.

4.2 Specific Pay-Out Provisions

MC Square has to maintain a sound financial situation and has to take into consideration any negative financial result and performance of MC Square and/or the Funds.

Ex post risk adjustments shall always be performance or risk related. They shall respond to the actual risk outcomes or changes to persisting risks, business line or staff's activities of MC Square.

Should a malus or clawback adjustment be decided by the Board, MC Square shall analyse whether risks have been omitted or underestimated, or if new risks were identified or unexpected losses occurred.

Malus Clause

Variable remuneration is awarded to Identified Staff based on their performance and on the premise that he/she has been fully compliant with the regulatory framework and internal procedures of MC Square.

In the event of inappropriate behavior of the employee, such as harassment or failure to comply with the Code of Conduct of MC Square or in any case a clear misalignment with the values of the Company, MC Square may consider a partial or total reduction of the bonus paid to the employee. Malus event must be defined as fraud, lack of capital, regulatory issues or liquidity or solvency breaches.

In case MC Square needs to strengthen its financial situation, the Board can exceptionally decide to reduce or eliminate the Variable Remuneration to employees as appropriate.

Clawback

In certain circumstances as follows, MC Square's Board can decide that an employee shall pay back the Variable remuneration he/she received:

- In case of established fraud or misleading information;
- Misbehavior or serious error, such as breach of MC Square's policies;
- In the event of conduct not compliant with legal or statutory requirements, including the assumption of excessive sustainability risks.

Adjustment and Cancellation

Variable Remuneration, if any, shall be based on the employee's actual working hours. Hence, if the employee has been absent from work or worked part-time during the relevant remuneration year, the Variable Remuneration is adjusted accordingly.

5. Balance between Fixed and Variable Remuneration

Remuneration that is comprised of both Fixed and Variable Remuneration shall be appropriately balanced. Fixed Remuneration shall represent a large enough portion to be able to, if necessary, set any or all Variable Remuneration to zero.

As a general principle, MC Square does not pay any variable component exceeding 100% of the fixed component to any of its employees. On an exceptional basis, MC Square may apply a higher maximum level of the ratio between the fixed and variable components which would in no case exceed 200% of the fixed component. In this case, a detailed recommendation describing the reasons for, and the scope of, the approval sought (incl. the number of staff affected, their functions and the expected impact on the requirement to maintain a sound capital base) shall be submitted by the Board to the shareholders of MC Square in the general meeting.

Regarding the proportion of the variable remuneration, the following limits apply to MC Square's Identified Staff:

	Maximum Variable remuneration in % of the annual fixed remuneration
Executive Directors	100%
Senior Management	100%

Portfolio Managers	100%
Internal Control Functions	30%
Other identified staff	100%

6. Yearly performance review:

MC Square ensures that where remuneration is performance-related:

- a. The total amount of remuneration is based on a combination of the assessment of the performance of:
 - the individual;
 - the business unit concerned; and
 - the overall results of MC Square; and
- b. The assessment of performance is set in a multi-year framework appropriate to the holding period recommended to the investors
- c. When assessing individual performance, financial as well as non-financial criteria are taken into account.

MC Square ensures that total variable remuneration does not limit MC Square's ability to strengthen its capital base.

7. Hiring a new employee

The Individuals' remuneration is in accordance with general market practices.

If the remuneration is above the market, the difference should be explained by the experiences and the soft skills of the individuals.

8. Principles on delegated activities

This Remuneration Policy does not apply to fees and commissions to intermediaries and external service provider in case of outsourced activities.

Specifically, compliance (or, as the case may be, non-compliance) with these principles shall be assessed by MC Square through its oversight function, in accordance with the rules set out in Article 18 of the July 12th, 2013 Law.

9. Review

The Remuneration Policy can be reviewed and modified at any time, under the approval of the Board's independent members who do not perform any executive functions, in order to comply with the sound and prudent principles.

- MC Square is reviewing periodically the general principles of the remuneration policy and is responsible for its implementation:
 - o Annually;
 - o Every time a significant change to the business activities of MC Square or of the Funds occurs;
 - o Every time a significant new business relationship which represents a material part of the business of MC Square is formed;
 - o At such other point as the Board considers necessary from time to time.
- The implementation of the remuneration policy of MC Square, although under the responsibility of the Board, shall at least once a year be reviewed by the Board's independent member, in order for the latter to verify that MC Square complies with the policies and remuneration procedures adopted by the Board.
- The Compliance function and Internal Audit function have to review this process
